【1】 次の英文を読んで問いに答えなさい。

A long time ago, a young boy named Abu Hasan lived ( ① ) the desert in the country we now call Iraq. Abu Hasan was a very talented and kind boy, and he moved to the city of Baghdad. In Baghdad he worked very hard and became very rich. He had many friends who loved him, but he never married. His friends often asked him, ② “Why won't you marry?” and he always said that he had the love of his friends, so he did not need a *bride. But after many years and many questions, he realized that *even though he had many good friends that loved him, it was not the same as having a family, so he decided ( ③ ) marry. He talked to the local *matchmaker who told him that the governor's daughter, Djamila, was looking for a husband. So Abu Hasan decided to marry her.

Everyone was so happy for Abu Hasan. All of his friends came to the wedding. It was the ( ④ big ) and greatest wedding in Baghdad in many years. The tables were full of amazing and expensive foods. There were expensive drinks from all over the world, and the best musicians in Baghdad played for the whole day. In the evening Abu Hasan went out on to his balcony and threw gold coins to the crowds of poor people gathered below.

Later, when Abu Hasan and his friends were sitting and relaxing, Djamila came out to him in her first wedding dress. Abu Hasan said to himself, ⑤ “( 1. is 2. most 3. ever 4. I 5. she 6. the 7. beautiful 8. have 9. woman 10. seen ).” She was wearing a deep green dress that had many gems and silver on it. In Arabia, brides wear seven dresses for their wedding. Finally, her seventh and final dress was a simple white dress that made her look more beautiful than the full moon.

After that, Djamila went back to their bedroom to wait for Abu Hasan. But Abu Hasan felt bad about leaving all his guests who were having such a good time at the party, so he kept eating and drinking with them, and telling them amazing stories of when he was a child in the desert.

Finally, it was time for the party to end. Abu Hasan ate and drank a lot and when he tried to stand up, he let out a *fart as loud as a firework. Every guest at the party went silent. His friends all quickly started to talk again and *pretend that everything was normal. Abu Hasan left the party and walked towards his bedroom, but instead ( ⑥ ) going to his wife, he quickly ran out a side door. He got on his fastest horse and rode as fast as he could to the nearest port. At the port he got on a ship to India because he was so *embarrassed.

In India, Abu Hasan worked very hard, and learned the language very quickly. He soon became a very important person working for a prince in his town. He made many new friends. And every night he would go to the ( ⑦ tall ) tower and silently look west towards Baghdad for a very long time.

At last, after ten years of living in India, Abu Hasan decided to pack up all his things and return to Baghdad. The prince and all his friends were very sad to see Abu Hasan leave, but they wished him a safe trip. On the trip from India to Baghdad Abu Hasan couldn't sleep well because he was too *anxious.

When he landed in Baghdad, instead of going straight back to his house, he decided to *disguise himself and walk around the town to check *whether he could hear anyone talking about him. After a few days, he was sitting outside a house when he heard a young girl inside talking to her mother. "Mother, when was I born?" asked the young girl. The mother laughed and said "That is easy to remember. You were born the day after Abu Hasan farted!" As soon as Abu Hasan heard this, he said to himself ⑧ "I can never return home!", and then he left Baghdad forever.

【2】 Lisa と Megの姉妹の次の対話を読んで、問いに答えなさい。

Lisa : Grandma's birthday is coming soon.

Meg : I know. What did we give her last year?

Lisa : We gave her a scarf. What shall we do this year?

Meg : It has been a while since we saw her, so how about visiting her with a birthday cake and a present on her birthday? Look, we can order any kind of birthday cake we like at this cake shop.

Lisa : Wow, sounds nice! I want to order a chocolate cake because she loves chocolates.

Meg : You mean you want the cake made of chocolate cream with a chocolate sponge?

Lisa : Yes.

Meg : OK. And we should also ask for some strawberries on it. Which *chocolate plaque with "Happy Birthday" written on it do you want?

Lisa : Well... the cake is chocolate, how about a white chocolate one?

Meg : OK, the white and square one.

Lisa : Great. How about the size of the cake? There are only four of us, grandma, grandpa and us, so I think the smallest one is fine.

Meg : No way! We should get a much bigger one! They both love sweets.

Lisa : You think so? But the biggest one is too big. Let's get the medium one.

Meg : Yes! Then, I'll order the cake by email.

Lisa : Thanks. Now about the present. She loves flowers, but grandpa gives them to her every year, so we need to think of something different.

Meg : How about a flower vase?

Lisa : Good idea. Let's go shopping next Saturday.

( Next Saturday. At a home goods shop )

Lisa : There are so many vases, I can't decide which vase to buy.

Meg : I never thought there would be so many various kinds of shapes and sizes.

Lisa : I want to get a big vase to arrange a *bouquet.

Meg : I like single-flower vases. They are not so expensive, so we can buy a few of them.

Lisa : How much can we spend on the vase?

Meg : Our *budget for grandma's birthday is $100, but we'll pay $  for the birthday cake.

Lisa : Okay, then, how about this two-piece set, large and small? It costs $60.

Meg : We have three options. Clear, blue or yellow. I like the blue one.

Lisa : Blue is her favorite color, let's take it!

Clerk : May I help you?

Meg : Yes please. Can I get this blue two-piece vase set?

Lisa : It's a present, so could you gift-wrap it for us?

Clerk : The gift box costs $5. Is that OK? This card comes with it.

Lisa : That's fine. Thank you.

Clerk : Would you like to write on the card while you are waiting?

Meg : Yes!

( A few minutes later )

Clerk : Thank you for waiting. How do you like this?

Meg : Great!

Clerk : Who's this present for?

Lisa : For our grandma. Her birthday is tomorrow.

Clerk : I hope she likes it.

Lisa & Meg : Thank you.

( After they bought the present )

Lisa : Everything is ready, but we still have $  .

Meg : Then why don't we get some ice cream?

Lisa : Yes, let's.
